The polls of course will be open the usual time for a general election, from 7 in the morning until 7 at night. In Charleroi there will be special interest in the election owing to the fact that at that time will be presented to the people for their consideration the proposal to issue bonds in the sum of $75,000 for improvements in the borough. Of this sum as has often been stated, $65,000 is to be used for the grading, curbing and paving of hill streets and $10,000 for a municipal building.

ONE MAN IS BURNED TO DEATH; OTHERS INJURED IN A MINE

Flames Cause of Fatality in Patterson Mine Opposite Clairton--Superintendent Daugherty One of the Two Injured

One man was burned to death and two others were overcome by flames, smoke and black damp in the Patterson Coal company, opposite Clairton on the Monongahela river Monday, when they were hemmed in by a fire in the mine.

The Dead.
WILLIAM JOLLS, 35 years old, married, of Robinson Hollow; burned on entire body; died in McKeesport Hospital.

Burned.
SAMUEL DAUGHERTY, superintendent of the mine, burned on face and body; overcome by smoke and black damp; taken to his home.

THOMAS HUNT, burned on face and body and overcome by smoke and black damp; taken to his home.

Imprisoned in the mine for six hours, the men were in a desperate position when mining engineers, equipped with oxygen helmets and rescue apparatus penetrated the burning shaft at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and found the three men, prostrate in the path of the flames. The engineers, Allen Jones, H. D. Mason, J. T. Price, W. A. Raudenbach, W. J. German and William Freeman, went to the mine from the Pittsburgh station after noon black smoke started to pour out and the residents of the vicinity, alarmed when the men failed to appear, telephoned to Pittsburgh for the rescue team. The team arrived shortly after 1 o'clock and after a hard fight got safely through the flames and found the three men. First aid efforts revived two of the men, but Jolls was almost dead when found.

According to the engineers and the story of the two men who were revived the flames must have eaten through a portion of the mine after the men had passed the first entry. When they tried to return they found their retreat cut off. Efforts to extinguish the blaze were futile, and it is feared the mine will be destroyed. The mine shut down a few weeks ago when the fan house was burned. When operated it employs about 400 men.

CELEBRATION DATE IS AGAIN CHANGED

Saturday Will be Day for Observance of Hallowe'en and Parade, as Previously Arranged Will Be a Feature

For the third time the date for the Hallowe'en celebration in Charleroi has been changed. According to the present order the celebration will be held Saturday night, October 31.

This date was chosen by the committee in order to comply with a more general demand than the one for the celebration to be held on Friday night. Although some of the automobile owners have signified their willingness to enter machines in hill climbing contests Saturday afternoon to be held as a part of the Hallowe'en celebration, nothing definite has been decided upon. It is believed however that the contests will be held.

Preparations for the celebration are going along at a rapid rate. Prizes are being donated for the maskers and arrangements being perfected for the monster parade, which will be held Saturday evening.

A masquerade social will be held at the home of Mrs. McMahon, Tenth and Crest avenue tonight at eight o'clock by the Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian church. Admission 15 cents. 98-1

EX-PRESIDENT VISITS CHARLEROI AND SPEAKS

No Rowdyism Hallowe'en

Committee Arranging for Local Celebration Assured of Police Protection

Rowdyism will not be tolerated on Hallowe'en either during the day or night or any night this week. The order has gone forth from the committee arranging the celebration to this effect. Burgess S. L. Woodward has given his word that there will be plenty of police protection and offenders will be arrested and locked up without ceremony. Especially must the custom of soaping windows not be indulged in this year. The parents of children indulging in this kind of so-called sport will be held responsible for the children's acts. The intention is to have a celebration without the old fashioned mischief making that marked the celebrations of a few years ago.

GOVERNOR TO LIVE IN PHILA.

However, Gov. Tener Will Retain Charleroi as Legal Residence

LIKES PEOPLE HERE

Recent reports that Gov. Tener will make his headquarters in Philadelphia after his term expires were confirmed by the executive's action Monday in signing a lease for an apartment on Spruce street in that city. Gov. Tener said that while he expected to spend much of his time in Philadelphia, he would still consider Charleroi his legal residence. He paid a high tribute to his old acquaintances in the "Magic City" characterizing them as "my best friends." He said that the report that the headquarters of the National league would be removed from New York to Philadelphia was without foundation. He will not discuss the subject of politics, except to remark, "I shall take an interest in Pennsylvania politics; just how active I cannot say except that I always hope to be in a position to help my friends and advocate such principles as I know are right."

CHARLEROI MAN ASKS DAMAGES IN SUM OF $5,000

Local Delegation Traveling Short Way With the Colonel and Party

For the first time in history Charleroi was visited by an ex-president today. Coming by special train Col. Roosevelt and his party stopped but a short time this morning, and then left for points to the south and east. They made the trip through to Uniontown, where a mass meeting is to be held this afternoon.

Col. Roosevelt spoke to a large crowd at the local railroad station from the platform of one of his cars. School did not begin this morning at the usual time, and school children were on hand by the hundreds to see and hear Col. Roosevelt.

When Col. Roosevelt appeared on the platform of his car here this morning the Charleroi high school boys gave three cheers for him. With a smile he said, "Football season," then began his short speech.

Col. Roosevelt urged the people to continue the work they commenced two years ago by supporting Gifford Pinchot for United States Senator. He stated that a vote for Palmer was half a vote for Penrose. Col. Roosevelt urged the defeat of Penrose.

Charleroi is represented on the Roosevelt excursion by Dr. H. J. Reppman, James Dawson, J. J. Oates, John H. Moffitt, Burgess S. L. Woodward, William Brown and Floyd Chalfant. G. H. Thomas of Monessen, chairman of the Westmoreland county committee is also along. H. L. Lamb of California, joined the excursion here.

LIQUOR TAX IS EFFECTIVE IN UNITED STATES

Lewellyn, collector at Pittsburgh: "Tax accrues on all wines sold, two cents a quart on still wines; twenty cents a quart on champagne, other sparkling artificially carbonated wines; six cents a quart on liquors, cordials, and similar compounds and proportionate rates for other quantities. Until stamps are furnished dealers who sell to consumers will be required to keep account of sales on and after today." The tax went into effect on Friday.

ON THE LAST LAP

On the last lap of the Republican campaign in Pennsylvania Senator Boies Penrose, Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh and their colleagues on the Republican ticket are going through the state like conquering heroes.

Their triumphant campaign is hurrying to a successful conclusion and they have been encouraged to believe that the Republican party is certain to come into its own and that their election is assured by an old fashioned Republican majority.

The Republican candidates have found the voters of the state in a thoughtful mood. They have found the voters considering seriously and comparing the principles and policies of the two great parties.

The voters do not have to go back but two years to contemplate the boundless prosperity this country was enjoying when its affairs passed into the hands of the Democrats. Since then that wonderful prosperity has decayed. Confidence has been shaken. Labor is unemployed or is on less than half time. The pay envelopes of the wage-earners have been shrinking ever since Democracy came into power. Additional burdens in the form of war taxes in a time of peace have been imposed and the costs of living has not been reduced as promised. These conditions are easily recognized as the fruits of Democratic policies and the voters are just naturally turning to the Republican candidates who in every manner and form, represent the opposite in principles and policies.

To the Republican policy of Protection and Prosperity the voters are turning in their hope of relief. Senator Penrose, probably more distinctly than any other man in the nation, stands four square for Republicanism and all that Republicanism represents. It is, therefore, little wonder that the voters after deliberate consideration are turning a friendly face to the Republican candidates and are giving them grounds for their confidence that they will be elected with an immense margin.

The voters of Pennsylvania also realize that the candidates on the Republican state ticket were nominated in open primaries, without dealing or party manipulation, and they are entitled to the hearty support of every voter who believes in government by parties and who favor a square deal for every candidate who is willing to go into the open and contest for a nomination instead of waiting upon political jugglers to trade and swap them into power.

"AM I MY BROTHER'S KEEPER?" Those who are ever ready to cry out their personal liberty is being attacked, when the welfare of their neighbors demands some restriction of their actions, are as a rule among the first to renounce a similar desire for freedom on the part of others. says Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, in his weekly health and hygiene chat.

Modern methods of administering the health laws of the state and municipalities render strict quarantine necessary for certain communicable and infectious diseases, and in the case of children this is often followed by exclusion from school for an additional period of time. It would seem obvious to any unprejudiced observer that to require this for the protection of the innocent and unprotected fellow citizens is not more just from the standpoint of humane law but the men makers of our law as well.

Strange as it may seem, there are many worthy people who would permit their selfish interests to blind them to these duties. Part of this is no doubt due to their ignorance of the dangers which may result from carelessness. Hundreds of deaths annually from measles, for instance, might be avoided if parents would not look upon it as a more or less trifling complaint incidental to childhood from which their own and other people's children must inevitably suffer. The child with a sore throat who is permitted to go without medical attention and attend school may prove the source of an epidemic of diphtheria which will cost lives and heartbreak.

No matter how efficient the administration of the public health laws by the authorities, unless the public is educated to appreciate the necessity and will co-operate with them by living up to the spirit of the law, it will be impossible to triumph over disease.

All thinking men, unblinded by patriotism, must deplore the conflict in which so large a portion of the civilized world is now engaged. The same spirit which prevents the individual from answering in the affirmative, the question, "Am I my brother's keeper?" when his selfish desire is to be weighed against the welfare of his fellows, has apparently taken possession of Christian nations.

If we do our duty to others, it will redound to the protection and well-being of ourselves.

THE WHIRLWIND

There set out yesterday, on what is advertised as a "whirlwind" tour of Pennsylvania, one THEODORE ROOSEVELT, former President of the United States by grace of the Republican party. He is making an appeal to Republicans to turn against that party and to vote for a Democrat for governor and a New York Progressive for United States senator from this state. He is presenting no arguments, but simply letting out one long string of abuse of individuals and criticism of the Republican party.

Col. ROOSEVELT is denouncing Senator PENROSE, who, as state chairman, rolled up a record-breaking vote for him in Pennsylvania in 1904 and supported him loyally while President. He is opposing Dr. BRUMBAUGH, who has been a good enough Republican for ROOSEVELT until now and did more for Porto Rico than ROOSEVELT did for Cuba. He finds himself on another side from PHILANDER C. KNOX, who was his attorney general from the fall of 1901 until appointed to the Senate in the summer of 1904. He finds himself out of harmony with FRANK B. McCLAIN, the Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, who was acceptable to ROOSEVELT when campaigning for the Republican national ticket in 1900, 1904 and 1908, each time partly in the interest of ROOSEVELT. He is out of joint with MAHLON M. GARLAND, candidate for Congress-at-large, who was a good enough Republican to have been reappointed by him collector of the port in Pittsburgh and to have been retained throughout the ROOSEVELT administration. He is not this time for DANIEL F. LAPEAN, another Republican nominee for Congress-at-large, who was wholly satisfactory to him as a member of the House during the ROOSEVELT administration.

These and others who, while true Republicans, were also loyal to President ROOSEVELT, and now anathema for no other reason than that they continue to be Republicans. It is he who has gone out, he who has faltered in the faith, he who has betrayed both the party and many of its individual members. In the history of American politics there has been no president who so threw away an incomparable opportunity, so debased himself politically, as has THEO-

DORE ROOSEVELT. He is violating all tradition and his own "square deal" by his present course of proscription. —Gazette-Times

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Judson C. Welliver, Washington correspondent of Farm and Fireside tells in the current issue of that publication how the war affects all of us. Of the importance of President Wilson and the Washington Government in the present crisis Mr. Welliver says:

"Mr. Bryan and President Wilson, between them, come pretty near to being the diplomatic clearing house of the world. Washington today is more nearly the real capital of the world than any city ever was before."

"Out of the remotest parts of the globe American diplomatic officers are doing the neighborly job of looking after the interests of the belligerent countries in the capitals and commercial centers. When two nations go to war they cease speaking as they pass by. Each withdraws all its diplomatic representation from the other."

"But of course there is a lot of hang-over business; and there are new matters constantly arising, that make communication necessary. This must, according to the etiquette of war and diplomacy, be carried on through the diplomatic agencies of some mutual friend some neutral power."

"The United States is the one remaining first-class mutual friend in the whole family of nations."

When the French ambassador left Berlin he turned over the archives and business of his office to Judge Gerard, American ambassador and the French Government authorized Judge Gerard to attend as its agent to necessary matters. The Britishers did the same thing and so did the Japanese and the Russians.

Germany was for a time so completely isolated from the world that the Japanese declaration of war on Germany could not be made directly; it had to be notified to Germany through our State Department. In substance the Japanese ambassador in Washington said to Secretary Bryan:

"Will you kindly notify the most honorable German Government, in behalf of the humble Japanese Government, that the utterly unworthy Japanese Government deeply regrets the necessity to lick the tar out of the exalted and ennobled German Government, that the utterly unworthy operation."

"Secretary Bryan conveyed the message, adding some regrets on his own account."

It is related that a Monongahela valley dandy attempted to sell a mule to a man, who was in doubt as to the animal's age.

"If," said the prospective buyer, "this mule is as young as you claim, why is it that he bends so at the knees?"

"Oh, don't let dat little fact worry you, boss," the negro hastened to say. "Dat mule bend at de laigs, but it ain't due to no age dat he does. Do hores' truth, boss is dat I ain't had de money to look after dat mule de way he oughter been. My stable is kinder low, an' dat mule he been obliged to stoop a little, dat's all." —Harper's Magazine.

ALLEGED "BLACK HAND" IS ARRESTED AT DONORA

Accused of having sent "Black Hand" letters to a Donora Italian, Tony Caprone was arrested Monday night by Constable C. E. Tins of Donora and Sargent George Hanes. He was taken before Justice of the Peace Coatsworth Monday night about midnight, and information made against him. A supposed accomplice has not been apprehended. It is alleged that Caprone had sent threatening letters to Dominick Carrossi, an Italian owning property in Donora, demanding a sum of money. Recently a supposed agent of Caprone visited Carrossi in person and told him that unless he delivered the money within three days he would be killed.

Recovered from Lung Trouble—Now Insured

Insurance companies will not accept any one affected with Lung Trouble. When you know a man who has been afflicted and who later has been insured, such action means that the policyholder must be in a very good state of health. Cases have been reported where Lung Sufferers, after taking Eckman's Alternative, a remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles, have successfully passed the medical test of insurance companies. Read this case:

257 Dean St., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"Gentlemen: About a year and a half ago I noticed that my health was rapidly falling. I was troubled with night sweats, a severe cough and was very weak; having, in fact, absolutely no ambition whatever. About this time I consulted a physician who told me my lungs were affected. Not satisfied I went to another doctor, who, after examining me, said that I was in the first stages of Lung Trouble. At this point I started to take Eckman's Alternative. The night sweats stopped almost immediately, my cough became looser and gradually disappeared. My weight is now 145 pounds and my physician has pronounced me perfectly sound—which, together with the fact that I have been accepted by two different insurance companies for insurance, makes me sure of my entire recovery by Eckman's Alternative."
Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stomach Colds and in expelling the system of poisons, narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa. for evidence. For sale by all leading druggists.

Motorcycle Returned.

After twelve days time the motorcycle borrowed from a foreigner in Braznell was returned. The thief borrowed the motorcycle for a little ride and returned twelve days later. He did not turn the machine over to the owner personally but placed it in the company's stable where the owner had cause to frequent. The only damage wrought to the machine was a broken pedal. Nothing concerning the handling of the "borrower" has been brought up as yet, although the owner of the machine had a warrant issued for the thief.

WAR BULLETINS

Paris, Oct. 27.—The Germans are bombarding Nieuport, after forcing a crossing of the river in great force between Dixmude and Nieuport. The Belgians line was pressed back about 6 miles. The advance was checked for a time by a violent counter attack. The Germans brought up their heavy siege guns, the "Jack Johnsons" and the "Black Marias," and many shells burst over and in Nieuport.

Mancheston, Mass., Oct. 27.—The Austro-Hungarian embassy gave out an Austrian official statement which says that the Austrian army and the Germans forces form an almost uninterrupted front from the Carpathians to the neighborhood of Polck, 60 miles northwest of Warsaw, against the Russians. Austrian troops have gained in middle Galicia. Strong Serbian and Montenegrin forces which had entered southeastern Bosnia have been forced to retreat after three-days battle.

London, Oct. 27.—The situation continues to be satisfactory. The fighting is severe and continues, but ground is being gained and many prisoners have been taken. One division captured two guns.

Petrograd, Oct. 27.—The combats on the routes leading to Petrokof and Radom have assumed the character of a great battle. The front extends over 100 verst. A verst is 2-3 of a mile. In the village of Morchidlo the Russians buried over 700 Germans. In a bayonet combat near Mazamerjeff the Russians captured two batteries of machine guns.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Germany will not attempt to colonize Canada. Germany contends that Canada has violated the spirit of the Monroe doctrine by sending troops against Germany.

Peking, China, Oct. 27.—The Chinese foreign minister has demanded the surrender of a Japanese torpedo boat, with its crew, which entered Chinese waters, substituted the Japanese flag for the Chinese dragon and attempted to tow away the wrecked torpedo boat S 90.

Mr. Temple's Votes On Important Bills

The following is an account of my stewardship as your representative, being a list of the principal measures considered in this Congress and a statement of my vote on each of them:

I spoke and voted against the UNDERWOOD TARIFF. I believe in the wisdom of the protective policy: this bill, according to the formal report of Mr. Underwood, its author, was drawn "without thought of protection." I voted for the creation of a TARIFF COMMISSION to be composed of business men and tariff experts. The adoption of this plan would take the tariff out of politics and give us a tariff suited to business needs rather than one suited to the necessities of politicians and candidates for office.

While the BANKING AND CURRENCY BILL was in the objectionable form in which it first passed the House I opposed it, saying at the same time that its fundamental principles were sound and that I hoped to be able to vote for it after its defects had been corrected by the Senate. Practically all the changes I had asked for were made in the Senate, and I voted for the bill in its final form.

I opposed the repeal of "FREE TOLLS" for American coastwise shipping in the Panama Canal. My reasons for this were fully set forth in a speech delivered in the House of Representatives on March 28, 1914.

I supported the President in his efforts to PREVENT WAR WITH MEXICO, and I opposed the resolution under which, as declared by the Chairman of the Committee, it was intended to establish a blockade of Mexican ports. The Senate refused to pass the House Resolution but substituted for it an entirely different one which passed the House without debate.

I opposed the bill passed by the House August 3rd, which permits ships sailing under flags of nations at war to be transferred to the flag of the United States. Such vessels would probably be captured and condemned as having been transferred to evade the consequences to which an enemy vessel, as such, is exposed. The captured vessel would not be tried by an American court, but by a court of the captor. Three of the warring governments have announced their intention to enforce the agreement signed at London in 1909 by the United States and other powers. This agreement forbids transfers after the beginning of hostilities if made for the purpose of evading the consequences of the war. Technically this agreement is not binding for, though ratified by the Senate, ratifications have not yet been exchanged.

In 1898, during our war with Spain, the Benito Estenger, a Spanish ship, was transferred to the British flag on June 9th. She was captured by an American warship, June 27, 1898, and was condemned by our prize court. On appeal the United States Supreme Court the capture and condemnation were sustained on the ground that the Benito Estenger remained a Spanish ship although she was transferred to the British flag and granted British registry in full compliance with all the requirements of British law. (176 U. S. 568.)

I opposed the "WAR TAX" of $105,000,000 because it was hastily drawn, unjust in some of its provisions and was pushed through the House under a special rule which prevented any member from even offering any amendment.

I voted also for the measures named below, not because I believed them to be perfect but because in the main they mark an advance beyond existing law and give promise of beneficial results. For that reason I supported the Immigration bill with its literacy test; the Railway Stock and Bond bill to prevent the "watering" of stocks; the Clayton Anti-Trust bill; the appropriation asked for the Children's Bureau to carry on its work and for the eight-hour day for women employes in the District of Columbia.

These measures I supported; other measures I supported or opposed, not on partisan grounds but according to my belief that they would prove beneficial or otherwise to the people of the Twenty-fourth district and the whole country.

My name will appear on the ballot as the candidate of the Washington Party. I ask all voters who approve of my course to express their approval by voting for me on the third of November.

Sincerely yours, H. W. TEMPLE, Representative in Congress, 24th District.
